

WARLY REMEGIO, DNP. RN, NEA-BC, NDP-BC, FNYAM
Vice President, Nursing Professional Development & Practice Excellence
Hartford HealthCare

Dr. Warly Remegio is a visionary and transformational leader with a proven track record of achieving remarkable results in leading diverse, complex teams and organizations. He is the System VP of Nursing Professional Development and Practice Excellence at Hartford HealthCare in Connecticut. In this role, he leads the advancement and alignment of a system-focused nursing education, professional development, practice, and research that supports a culture of professional excellence and empowerment toward advancing nursing practice and improving patient care outcomes.

In his career trajectory, he served multiple clinical, education, and leadership roles and has received numerous leadership awards; most recently, he was named as one of the 40 under 40 by The Modern Healthcare (2024) in recognition of his exemplary leadership in building a culture of professional excellence, quality and safety, and in addressing sustainability in the nursing workforce at Hartford HealthCare. He was also the recipient of the PNAA Outstanding Leadership Award (2022), a Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine (2021), and a Fellow of the Young Professional Voices of the American Organization for Nursing Leadership (2020).

Dr. Remegio is a champion of healthcare advocacy and health equity, as he continues to be the voice for internationally educated nurses. He serves as Vice President of the Philippine Nurses Association of America and as the immediate past President of PNA New York. With his vision and leadership mantra, ASPIRE to EMPOWER, he successfully established various strategic initiatives with remarkable results, Achieving Synergistic Partnerships, Innovations, Resilience, and Excellence in the organization. His nursing advocacy goes beyond PNAA, as demonstrated by his active involvement in the American Organization for Nursing Leadership and the Association of Nursing Professional Development, where he served as one of the ten global leaders who orchestrated the newly released Nursing Professional Development Scope and Standards. He has done extensive research in transformational leadership, psychological empowerment, professional quality of life of nurse leaders, and engagement and has presented locally, nationally, and internationally.

Dr. Remegio graduated with his Bachelor of Science in Nursing from the Medical Colleges of Northern Philippines and his Master of Science in Healthcare Management in the Executive Nursing Program from Long Island University. He completed his Doctor of Nursing Practice at Frances Payne Bolton School of Nursing and his Post-doctoral Miller Fellow of the Marian Shaunessy Nursing Leadership Academy, both from Case Western Reserve University.
